

CALL COMMITTEE
FINAL Update

We've been reflecting this week on our Candidating weekend, the positive energy around our candidate many of you shared with us, and our successful election of our new pastor. Thank you for showing up!

The work we began nine months ago is complete. Our committee will disband. We finished what we came together to accomplish. We ask ourselves, what are we going to do with Tuesday evenings now? Now we prepare for the next steps in our journey of transition.

We will welcome our new Pastor and her family on December 5, only five weeks from today. We will spend time getting to know her as she gets to know us. We will begin to envision our future as Julie and Paul shift toward retirement. We look toward 2024 as a year of new beginnings and growth.

As a committee we have grown in our faith through this spiritual journey. While we will go on to serve on other committees and in other capacities, we will never share this experience again. With deep gratitude for the opportunity to contribute to our church, thank you for trusting us with this work and supporting us through words and prayer. We felt your love!
